REGIONAL EVENT

2023 THEME - TIDES

As the Animalia rise from the desert sea we offer the opportunity to ride out the ebbs and flows via our community Coracle. Water is powerful, tides constant. When the water and shore meet, the transitions happen. Treasures unearthed, brought to shore, or buried and carried away. It's nature and it's powerful. May the tides brings us comfort, joy and magic as we all gather to celebrate the changes we continue to experience in our journey forward.

VENUE: SHAKORI HILLS COMMUNITY ARTS CENTER

We returned to Shakori Hills Community Arts Center in Pittsboro, North Carolina, for our third time. This is significant for three main reasons:

- * Being at a public venue, rather than a private residence means greater involvement and permitting requirements from Chatham County.
- * We see ourselves staying at Shakori Hills Community Arts Center and growing into the space, which has a capacity for 5000+ participants.
- * Shakori Hills Community Arts Center provides support and has a willingness to help us best utilize the venue as we grow. We have used about $\frac{1}{3}$ of the property.

CIVIC RESPONSIBILITY

Coracle is a small population and we encourage our participants to embrace radical self-reliance. At the same time, the organizing team was prepared to ensure the safety of the event.

* The Chatham County Fire Marshall evaluated the safety of our sculpture burn and theme camp flame effects; after inspection, all were permitted for the event.

* Producers had a 6-hour 'shift' each day beginning on Friday morning where we were responsible, and on-call by radio.

* Arise Event Services, LLC (AES) was on duty and provided medical and security services by licensed and experienced staff with a centrally located medical station. Their staff was on radio for the entirety of the contracted event. For any and all situations that required more than basic First Aid care, AES was contracted to serve as liaisons with local EMS, as necessary. Thankfully, this was not necessary!

TICKETING

Ticket types, prices, and numbers sold are in the table below. All tickets were sold through Burnertickets. All Coracle attendees were required to purchase tickets, there were no comp "free" tickets to the event.

GUARDIAN OF THE SEVEN

Guardian of the Seven is an 8 foot tall lighthouse inspired art piece by Jason Lenhardt and Cory Allison, nods to both the seven seas and the seven chakras. It features seven sides, each containing a multi-layer cnc cut plywood panel representing one of the chakras. At night the lighthouse will be internally illuminated with an array of changing colors and by day it will capture the sun to create an ever changing pattern of shadows and light upon the surrounding earth.

Visitors were encouraged to write messages on the surrounding waves or place memorial objects behind the waves prior to the burn.

Thank you so much Jason and Cory!

The sculpture was ignited on schedule and how the artist had planned and envisioned. The Fire Art Safety Team (FAST) organized a perimeter circle. There was an amazing Fire Conclave with several Fire Performers, followed by a safe and beautiful sculpture burn.

NEW! OFF-CENTER CAMP

by team lead
Karen Feenix

The venue has a shack structure conveniently located close to restrooms, drinking water, electricity, first aid & safety. Previous years we provided beverages. This year we expanded “Coracle Coffee” to call it “Off-Center Camp” to add an official information center and lounge area.

Evening and afternoon volunteers had the opportunity to host a mini activity during their block and were referred to as Off-Center Camp Hosts. Host’s activities combined to create spontaneously beautiful happenings!

COFFEE, TEA & HOT COCOA OH MY

We provided coffee, hot water & tea from around 7:00 am – 1:30 am daily. The onsite refrigerator was especially helpful to keep creamers cold without the need for a lot of ice.

Hot water was also used to take back to camps for soups and other meal prep, as hot water bottles to carry in pockets, or just for drinking.

Turmeric was the most popular flavor of tea; there were many requests for more after it ran out.

NEW! INFORMATION CENTER

A dedicated area housed information for participants as a central gathering point:

- * Map of the grounds & camps
- * Schedules & descriptions of activities & theme camps
- * Volunteer signups & information
- * MOOP bags & composting
- * Weather radio & condoms
- * Lost & Found
- * Served as a meeting spot for some volunteer teams

NEW! OFF-CENTER LOUNGE

We added a lounge area with picnic tables and a 10x20 shelter!

The lounge area provided an enclosed and heated retreat during the weekend’s cold hours & doubled as a place to hold scheduled and spontaneous events.

At various times, volunteers held events in the space, such as: massage therapy, games, jokes, financial advice, sacred geometry, Harry Potter themed drinks, buffer massages, late evening banjo music, and Pi Camp served delicious pie after the burn in exchange for answering a math question.

The space gave many participants the opportunity to lead an activity for a short time without having to plan a weekend of activities and the associated need for infrastructure, lights, etc.

Off-Center Camp is now ingrained in the Coracle culture and will continue in the coming years!

VOLUNTEERING

Silver and Moni Wack, co-leads on the Volunteer Team took us to the next level with transitioning pre-event volunteer shifts online for all department via signup.com.

Silver set up the database and Moni wrangled & recruited volunteers & leads. They worked with each team lead to identify names and descriptions of shifts and how many were needed.

Signup shifts were also available on-site at Off-Center Camp for folks not signing up in advance.

We had...

154 SHIFTS AVAILABLE

124
ONLINE SIGNUPS

73%
ONLINE FILL RATE!

...not including our Leadership Team of 15. Our takeaway is we did a good job of asking for the right number of people, had pretty good signups, and we staffed the necessary functions of the event. This year's volunteer structure will be a good guide for next year.

If the event should approach 400 participants, we may consider adding Rangers to the volunteer teams.

LEADERSHIP LEARNINGS

What Worked & What We'll Do Differently Next Year

GENERAL SUMMARY

Of the 14 camps present 9 were new to Coracle. All 7 Art installations were new to Coracle. The event duration was increased one more night in 2023. We are happy with the growth level we set in terms of participants and camps this year and plan a steady and slow growth curve in the years to come. The venue imposed a sound policy which meant to turn off all the amplified sounds by midnight and have 'quiet hours' during the event. We were pleasantly surprised how the community responded enthusiastically with the new sound policy. The music cut off request was respected by all the camps playing amplifying sound. This was also the first year we had 'Silent Disco' which was very well received, especially in the quiet hours.

CAMP PLACEMENT

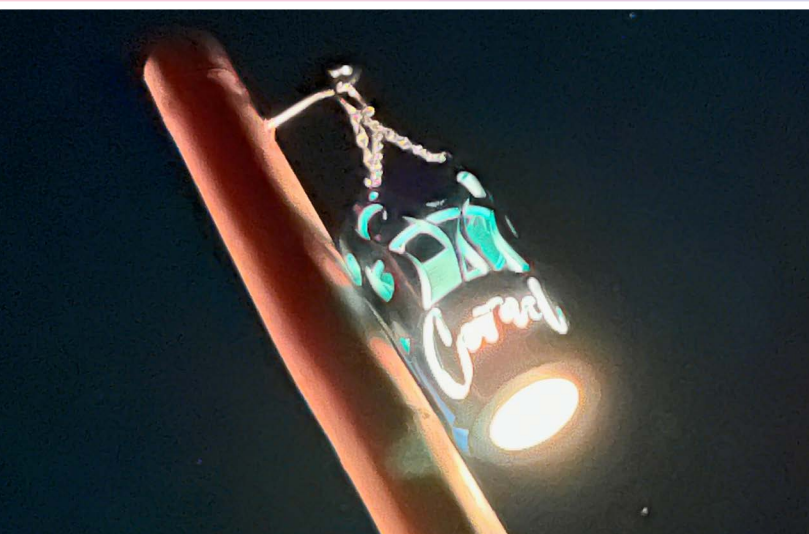

The new sound camp requirements requested by the venue were implemented. The sound camps were placed strategically to cause minimum disturbance to the neighbors.

ONSITE MEDICAL SERVICES

We were committed to our resolution of bringing hired medical support for having a safe Coracle. This year we hired Arise Event Services, LLC (AES). There was a medical station operated by AES located near the permanent bathrooms centrally located. AES also provided medical and security services by licensed and experienced staff. For any and all situations that required more than basic First Aid care, AES was contracted to serve as liaisons with local EMS and authorities, as necessary. We contracted AES to be at the gate during the night time hours which was a big relief to the team and participants.

PRIORITIES FOR NEXT YEAR

- * In 2023, we increased the event duration by 1 night.
- * In 2024, we are planning to add one more night to the event duration, contributing to our slow and steady growth.
- * Parking, Gate and Greeters teams have decided to operate together as a 'Front End Team'. Having a floater position will reduce the amount of volunteers needed.
- * Growing the Coracle Leadership team and adding co-leads to each team.
- * Having a plan to manage the walkie-talkies and requiring signing in and out for each use.
- * We intend to stay in touch about a sound plan with the participants, Arise team and theme camp leads, to address the neighbors' concerns about sound and to adhere to sound permit requirements after 11:45pm.
- * Looking for a new ticketing platform, starting the ticketing process earlier.

LEAVE NO TRACE

The central Off-Center Camp was equipped with moop bags (Matter Out of Place). Participants were encouraged to practice LNT. A compost bin was available at the Off-Center Camp. All the coffee grounds generated from Off-Center Camp were composted.

Few bags of trash was removed from the property. Volunteers swept every area of the property which Coracle used.

The sculpture was placed on a raised platform to protect the soil. All fires were elevated with the exception of an existing fire pit maintained by the venue.

Most participants took serious responsibility for Leave No Trace and were excited to improve the property. The venue was left in a better condition; property representatives expressed that they were very pleased with the conditions.

TICKETING

This was our second year working with Burnertickets.com as our ticketing platform. Our learnings from last year helped us make sure that ticketing this year went smoothly. Burnertickets.com is not functional anymore and we are actively looking for a new ticketing platform for Coracle 2024.

2023 DONATIONS

Coracle donated $1,000 of earnings, split between three non-profits. $400 to Burning Man Project, $400 to Nomad Harvest water-based art, and $200 to Carolina Common Enterprise, who assists individuals and communities – particularly those in low income and socially disadvantaged rural and urban areas – to create, expand and improve community-based enterprises..

LEGEND OF CORACLE & SWAG

The Legend contains the schedule of Art, Theme Camps, and Events. It was released the week prior and a printed version was given to each camp and/or participant. Maps were distributed throughout.

Each participant was given a Coracle laser engraved pendant and a Waves-themed magnet upon checkin.

CORACLE (AN ESSAY)

We drive in to a gathering at the Shakori Hills Community Arts Center A close friend since we were 10 years-old has been organizing Coracle annually for years
And we finally arrive

The invitation of Coracle, which means a small round boat woven together, is to Communally weave a weekend of celebration, holding everyone's gifts

I was very moved by this and the guiding 10 principles Which are the principles of Burning Man I'll include them here for anyone interested

Radical Inclusion, Gifting, Decommodification,
Radical self-reliance,
Radical self-expression, Community, Civic responsibility, Leave no trace, Participation, Immediacy,

We walk up and are immediately greeted by strangers with "Welcome home"
And I feel it
The expansiveness of the natural beauty

The kindness and creativity of the people we meet All camping together this weekend

"Welcome home" and "Happy burn" become phrases we hear throughout the
And people mean it

I am blown away by the creativity

By the generosity
By the invitations to play, dance, dream
By the enjoyment of life

People feed us:
Homemade dairy free pumpkin spice ice cream Hamburgers with gf buns one night and chili and jambalaya another Mai ties and Moscow mules Tea and coffee and hot chocolate all day and night Deep fried Oreos
Pancake and nutella sandwiches for breakfast Freshly baked chocolate chip cookies

We answer math questions and receive slices of pie (key lime, chocolate, gf date, coconut, you chose)

The Burndalf's school for dropout wizards theme camp offers us Harry Potter inspired cocktails

Fancy Fox hands out her Halloween candy to everyone we meet

Fancy Fox plays with Fancy Wolf, who she's known since she was born I wander around with them As they play a standing pinball like game created just for Coracle

And wander through the Fountain of Suspended Disbelief

Dance through bubbles Whack each other with nerf swords

Make spell books Paint their nails in the nail salon

Sing songs on the stage We play improv games in the field with people of all ages

Participate in a silent disco tea party

With headsets and three music stations to choose from

While we drink tea and eat cookies

We dance around Shakori Hills

To the music

Hang from a giant jungle gym with hammocks and Ariel hoops

They play badminton

I take shot of intention, water infused with Reiki energy (I chose grace, acceptance, love)

Fancy Fox can't stop saying how amazing it is

We are drawn again and again to the art hanging in the trees called "critterz"

Huge white hearts with faces that change into rainbow colors in the dark

We admire the lighthouse made of laser-cut wood, and write intentions on it throughout the day

Then gather to watch it burn as the darkness takes over the sky

Fire dancers emerge All of a sudden we look into the cedar trees and see faces

People who were filmed earlier in the day are projected onto the trees in the darkness

It is incredible Seeing people and trees merge in the sky

A gentleman lays in the grass looking up at the stars

We ask if he is ok

"I'm glorious" He responds I wonder if I have ever had someone respond to this question in that way before

I wish I did, everyday

People wear rainbow light up shoes, jackets, wings

Anything that makes them feel alive

We cheer and howl

We dance in the dark as "poofers" (huge match-like sticks) Poof out fire like a dragon in rhythm with the drumbeat of the song

We spin on spinners

Hang from circles

Sit by the fire

Dream

We play and play and play

Under the sun and moon

The twinkling night stars

And changing woods

70 degree days and freezing nights

Surrounded by the love and kindness of strangers

Creating art everywhere

Life is art

Everything gifted

Given

We brought little and received so much

On the final afternoon, we stand with glasses in the sun and make a sparkling apple cider toast

"Happy noonday"

It reminds me of the feast in Alice in Wonderland

And why not celebrate at noon, everyday

Honor the beauty of being alive

In this moment, may we not forget to

Play

Have fun

Connect

Co-create

Build community

Care

Dance

Make art

Give freely and often

We have been so cared for and inspired. This force of creativity and possibility fills me up. I am so alive from this time with friends in the beauty of the woods, surrounded by art and fun. Fancy Fox and I are in bliss as we get in the car to return home. Ready to bring this feeling into the coming days with love.

I just gotta tell y'all once again what a wonderful time this Burn was.

Burning is a model, a way of being in the world: of being kind, open, friendly, loving, accepting, creative, diligent.

Those ten principles never disappoint. There are times I forget those principles and what it means to Burn through life.

Coracle helped me remember. Can't wait to jump in next year with some leadership and more cool art. Thanks, everyone!

~Dorne
